Campus Paper Real Necessity Says Governor

SAYS THE GOVERNOR TO UNIVERSITY: "ALL YOU NEED IS A LOT OF PRINTERS' INK AND PEP."

To start a paper is the easiest thing in the world. Those associated with the enterprise are inspired with noble ambition, they see a great work that needs to be done, they throb with ideas on how the world should be run and welcome the opportunity of carrying their message to all who come within the range of printers' ink and newspaper circulation.

To keep a newspaper going is among the most difficult tasks. Those associated with the enterprise find that the expense is greater than they anticipated. In a short time they learn that not all the business men with whom they come in contact are as enthusiastic as the promoters over the business value of the medium. Then the writers, having let off their preliminary steam, and relieved the pressure on their mental system, find that providing copy of the journal and developing new phases of the same idea in an attractive, convincing and readable form is very much like hard work. And after a few weeks of effervescent enthusiasm, there is a tendency to tire of the deadly routine of trying to produce something new.

I was very glad to learn that the University of Hawaii is contemplating the publication of a news medium that will serve to unite the student body and give the people of the Territory an opportunity to keep in touch with what is going on at the University.

I wish you every possible success. My first work in providing the money to carry on a business enterprise was done in connection with a college publication. Times have changed, but I have observed that quite a number of the enterprises of this character approach the reading public and the business community on the basis that the publication is deserving of support in the nature of contributions. Let me suggest that you are immediately threatened with failure if you start out on this line.

Create something of value and then do your best to sell it.

The only possible road to success for a news medium or magazine is to turn out a product which from its demonstrated ability to properly fill a field of usefulness, attracts the friendly attention of the reader and thus appeals to the business man as a worth while medium for the investment of the money he sets apart for advertising.

The University publication carries a very great responsibility. It will be accepted as reflecting the character of the Institution. Those associated with it should guard against making it a ridiculous plaything. It should be a clean cut, healthy, good-natured expression of normal University life.

I am sure that the young men and women of the University of Hawaii possess the ability to establish and maintain one of the best university publications of its kind in the country. All you need to do is to apply that ability and prove your willingness to make the effort in concentrated study and unrelenting hard work.

W. R. FARRINGTON,
Governor of Hawaii.

Staff Positions Still Open on the Hawaii Mirror

Positions are open on both the editorial and managerial staffs of The Hawaii Mirror.

A representative college paper should result from the efforts of the greater part of the student body and not from those of a few. As this edition was prepared during vacation, it was impossible to reach all the students, and consequently this issue is the work of a comparatively small group of students whom it was practical to ask to contribute. Future copies, it is hoped, will be representative of the student body as a whole, and those interested in the establishment of a college paper urge that everyone try out for places on the staff.

A permanent staff has not been organized, and there is the same opportunity for all as there is for those who helped in the preparation of this issue. Definite plans for the formation of a staff will be announced soon, and discussion of the affairs of the paper will take place this week at a meeting which all students interested are asked to attend.

No previous experience is necessary, and enthusiasm and determination are all that is required. Although the work will take time and effort, it is believed that members of the staff will be more than repaid by the experience in newspaper work and the pleasure of helping with a college project, which are afforded.

Politics Keeps Wrenshall From Venezuela Trip

CITIZENS OF SOUTHERN REPUBLIC TOO BUSY WITH REVOLUTIONS TO TALK HEALTH

"On account of the political situation, your trip will have to be postponed." This was the message received by Dr. Richard Wrenshall, professor of chemistry, while he was en route to Venezuela to assist in the establishment of a plant for the manufacture of the Dean chaulmoogra oil specific that has been developed at the University of Hawaii.

Dr. Benchetrit, of Caracas, who has been interested in the leprosy problem of his country, spent last fall in Honolulu studying the treatment that is being given here, invited Dr. Wrenshall to go to Venezuela as the guest of the government, but unsettled conditions forced them to postpone the trip. Dr. Benchetrit, meanwhile, is carrying on his work in Colombia, where leprosy is also very prevalent. It is estimated that there are about 100,000 cases in the two republics.

Having already made reservations, he sailed from San Francisco on the Pacific Mail ship, Venezuela, intending to go at least as far as Panama.

"I had the opportunity of visiting Manzanillo, Mexico, Champerico and San Jose in Guatemala, Acaputla and La Libertad in El Salvador, and Carinto in Nicaragua," Dr. Wrenshall says. "The next stop was Panama, where plenty of time was given to see the Panama Canal and the cities of Balboa, Cristobal and Colon.

"From there four days' sail took us to Havana, Cuba, where I left the ship. The heat was excessive in all these places, and after three days of sight-seeing in Havana, I crossed over to Key West, Florida, and then proceeded by train to my old home in Pittsburgh.

"I spent about two weeks in Washington, D.C., New Haven and Chicago getting information from well known chemists which will help me in my work with Dr. Dean in preparing mercury and arsenic derivations of chaulmoogric oil."

Dr. Wrenshall has been in direct charge of the preparation of the Dean

Adelphians to Welcome Frosh Ladies Today

The Adelphi Club composed of University coeds will welcome the Freshman girls on Registration Day. Any Freshman lassie desiring any information or advice please look for an Adelphi member and she will gladly aid you. You can identify her by a pin she wears. It is a gold friendship pin upon which is mounted the letter "A" studded in pearls.

The members of the club wish to live up to its name, that of Adelphi, which means sisterly.

At previous registrations the new members entering the university from high schools have felt lost in the "new world." No one had paid any attention to them, of course not intentionally, and many of them had been too timid or bashful to ask for information. Thus they left us before we knew they were here.

A Freshman last year registered to attend the University. After having tried three days of college life, left and went to the Normal. She had not been welcomed or spoken to by anyone. It was not the fault of those in the institution, but was the fault of this student, who failed to make herself heard.

Therefore, new coeds, if you need information of any sort, just ask an Adelphi member; she will gladly give you plenty of it. There will be a great many of the members about the campus and building, and you can identify them by the Adelphi pins.

specific, which has been used with a high degree of success in the treatment of cases both at the Kalaupapa settlement on Molokai and at the Kaili home. No one has been sent to the leper settlement on Molokai for over three years, and it is believed that some of those in the settlement who have been treated with the Dean specific may be paroled in the near future.

Miss Dorothy Rowell, special student, who wrote the words for Hawaii's Alma Mater, has left to enter Columbia University, N.Y.

Mortimer Lydgate '25 will not return this fall.

Record Year Predicted for All Activities

BAROMETER POINTING UPWARD
IN EVERY LINE OF STUDENT ENDEAVOR

With the opening of the new college year, student activities of all varieties and forms will again resume the march, with renewed vigor and increased enthusiasm.

The campus which has been deserted for three long months, will again be the meeting place of hundreds of students engaged in various activities. It will be the practice field for athletic stars and would-be-stars, the favorite strolling ground for philosophers and nature admirers; it will echo with the cheers and shouts of gay football enthusiasts and rooters. The halls which have been silent the whole summer, will be filled with serious men and women discussing labor problems and the merits and demerits of democratic governments. Others, there will be, whose mental make-up turns their interests to the study of romantic poetry or to the consideration of Gothic architecture.

Opportunities for participation in these voluntary activities are numerous. The gates are wide open for those who would enter and enjoy the benefits and privileges which these activities confer. The field is not limited; any one can find his favorite spot within that field.

Football, basketball, tennis, track and swimming, all in turn, invite the husky athletes, including the fair coeds, with rewards no one can afford to miss.

The Literary Society, recently organized, has a very bright year before it. The literary-inclined and the lover of oratory and debating will find excellent occasions for expressing their innermost feelings and "giving off some hot air" if they choose to do so, provided they get the consent of the society's president, Mr. Henry Bindt.

There are the Dramatic Club, the Adelphian Club for women, the Student Y.M.C.A., the Glee Club, and a host of others, all of which under the intelligent leadership of their respective heads, are expecting to put over some interesting snappy programs.

Then there is that big organization, the Associated Students of the University of Hawaii, which, with Wilson Jacobson as its president, is sure to perform noteworthy actions. This is the Association which every student at the University, short or tall, good-looking or otherwise, should join. It controls all the important doings of the students on the campus. It is the governing body of all student activities. It stands for the protection of the rights of all its members and works for the good of all. In it is seen the working of student self-government—a fine opportunity for training yourself for community leadership which should be the aim of all college men and women.

Finally there is the publication of this weekly paper—another interesting phase of student activity. Here is where we can crystallize student opinion on the campus upon any question affecting the institution, the welfare of the students or any problems of national or international importance. This is a new undertaking for the men and women of this University. That the paper will be of great importance and service and a means of advertising the University, there is no doubt, provided, however, all of us give the needed support and assistance.

Martha Nichols '25 has accepted a position as teacher at Iolani School.

Mrs. Bob Spencer '25 will not return to college.

Mr. Howard Nichols '23 has left the University to accept a position with the Pearl City Fruit Co.

Ladies, Meet a Few of our Notable Frosh

"Duke Thompson" comes to join us from the McKinley High. He was one of the best football men who appeared on the gridiron last season. He was also a prominent figure in track, swimming and basketball.

William Wise, well known as "Pauoa Willie," is another great athlete. As captain of the McKinley football team '22, he had done much to lead McKinley to victory. The birds have told us that his dramatic skill is equal to that displayed in athletic activities.

Fook Hing Tong was the husky McKinley football player who often stopped the line as guard. They say that he's a bear. Watch him!

The football fans never failed to notice one McKinley tackle who always played a smashing game at his position. This conspicuous figure was Shunji Ikuta. He's a Babe Ruth on the diamond, too.

Miss Beatrice Krauss has followed her sister's footsteps, and is here to occupy the campus. She is the daughter of Professor Krauss, instructor in agronomy.

Montgomery Clarke, Ralph Ault, Gordon S. Young and S. A. McNicoll are four of Punahou's mightiest football stars. Don't fail to watch them when they go forth to battle.

Among the honor students of the Punahou Academy, the one who most marvelled the students as well as the members of the faculty, was Katharine Adams. Her father is known about the campus as "Doc." Adams.

Maui sends us D. Penhallow. He is known as the best sprinter of the Valley Isle.

E. F. Wedemeyer hails from Lihue, Kauai. They say that he plays a lion's game when it comes to basketball.

George Sakamaki, winner of the Peace Essay Contest, is from the Hilo High. Others from the Big Island are Walter J. Short, John M. Downer, Wm. Harman, Alfred Bell, K. Kojima, K. Makino and Hardy C. Lum.

The entire graduating class of the H.M.A. has arrived here. R. H. McLennan and E. O. Young are registered in the College of Arts and Sciences. The College of Applied Science welcomes William Harpham and William Sawson.

Miss Fong'ya Bong comes from St. Mary's Hall, Shanghai.

Miss Fuji Miyazaki is a graduate of the Doremus School, Yokohama.

From California we welcome E. B. Baker (St. Mary's College, Oakland), C. G. Eckert (Hitchcock Military Academy), and Leon Mermod (Winters).

A Letter from Dean Andrews on the Paper.

I wish to congratulate the students whose initiative and enterprise have transformed last year's nebulous discussions into a reality. The University has need of a publication; its students have the ability to conduct it creditably, and our numbers are sufficient to support it. I cannot believe that a venture so important will fail.

A paper does more than give information and entertainment. Without the aid of the printed word how long could our nation remain unified? how successfully could Honolulu forward its community enterprises? The advent of this weekly marks a new era in the development of our University.

ARTHUR L. ANDREWS.

Personal Notes

Mr. Robert Spencer '23, who expects to take his B.A. degree in June, has recently been appointed the principal of Iolani High School.

Miss Alice M. Matthews, known as "Billy," a former student at the University, is now Mrs. John L. Yaeger.

NEW FACES

Miss Helen McNeil takes the place of Miss Welden. Miss McNeil is from Boston.

Miss Eta Radke, assistant to Miss McNeil, comes from Wisconsin.

Miss Marville Buchanan, assistant to Miss Elsie Gay, our head bookkeeper, is also one of our new family members. She is from Lahaina, Maui.

Miss Florence Denison, our new library assistant, hails from Smith College of the Class of '22. She is a local girl, daughter of Harry Denison.

Miss Viola Smith, who has been here as stenographer of the University Extension Department, left during the vacation for Japan.

THOSE WHO HAVE LEFT US

Miss Florence T. Welden, secretary to the President, is no longer with us. We are sorry to miss her this year. She has performed a service of the highest type during the few years she has filled the position.

Miss Esther Hoe left us. She was married in June. She is now Mr. P. C. Steward.

FROM OTHER COLLEGES

Miss Cornelia Burbidge enters the University of Hawaii as sophomore from the University of Idaho.

Miss Florence Pollock, daughter of Professor Pollock, comes to us as sophomore from the University of Michigan.

Miss L. Perry '24 will join the Jolly Juniors. She is from Drake University.

L. J. Riggle '25 from Columbia University, and James Forbes Seals is from Washington and Lee College.

THE CLASS OF 1922

The class of 1922 has left us. We are sorry to part from the members of this class, but we are glad that everyone of them is carrying with them the spirit of this University wherever they go; we are glad that they are offering services to their community; we are glad that they are spreading their knowledge among others. We congratulate them upon their success thus far, and we earnestly hope that they will be of greater service to the public in years to come, that they will always remember their responsibilities in the world.

THOSE WHO HELPED IN PUTTING OUT THE FIRST ISSUE

It seemed that if the first edition of the University of Hawaii weekly newspaper, were not put out at the very beginning of the term, that the launching of this project might be postponed a whole year. So it was necessary to undertake the big enterprise with the assistance of those who were near enough and had time enough to give their service. Nevertheless, the surprising thing is that the group is so large and so representative. The number of articles submitted is far greater than can be used in the first edition, and it is hoped that some of them at least can be printed in the second. The following list contains, in alphabetical order, the names of all who have, in any way, helped in getting out this first edition of our weekly newspaper:

Gwenfread Allen, '24; Dr. A. L. Andrews; Henry Bindt, '23; Francis Bowers, '24; Dora Broadbent, '23; Beatrice Chong, '23; Koa Cook, '25; Prof. D. L. Crawford; Herbert Cullen, '23; Pres. A. L. Dean; Prof. C. H. Edmondson; Gov. W. R. Farrington; Yasuo Goto, '24; Marjorie Greig, '24; Wilson Jacobson, '23; Herbert Keppeler, '24; Dorothea Krauss, '24; Charles Lambert, '23; Lawrence Lit Lau, '24; Dr. K. C. Leebrick; Ruth Mashimo, '24; Helen Macniel; John Matsumura, '23; Catherine McLain, '25; Rebecca McVeagh, '24; Jen Fui Moo, alumnus, class of '22; Helene Morita, '24; Doris Mossman, '24; Douglas Ormiston, '23; J. M. Ostergaard; Laura Pratt, '25; Dwight Rugh; Loucy Searle, '24; Robert Spencer, '23; Masayuki Tokioka, '25; Richard Tong, '23.

At the time the Hawaii Mirror went to press, it was expected that a few more appointments for committee work at registration time would be made. These will be announced in the second issue.

We particularly miss Earl McTaggart, Jen Fui Moo, Francis Kanahele, and John Thompson.

A Message from Dean Kellar on The Weekly

Students of the University of Hawaii: It is a pleasure to be able to extend through the columns of the Hawaii Mirror best wishes to the returning students and welcome to the students who are matriculating this year.

Gartley Hall, in full use for the first time this fall, will relieve the overcrowding of former years in chemistry and physics laboratories and also furnish much needed additional lecture rooms. As the University extends and includes more ground and buildings, there arises a need for some means of keeping the students acquainted with the routine of college life. The bulletin board of former days must be augmented, and it is gratifying to note that enterprising students have foreseen this need and that with the opening of the present year the Hawaii Mirror makes its debut.

I again extend a welcome to old and new students and to the Hawaii Mirror, and trust that it may receive the support and co-operation of all the members of the University.

ARTHUR R. KELLER.

PRESIDENT WEL- COMES MIRROR AND STUDENTS

The Editor has asked me to write a few words of welcome. First, I want to welcome the new publication. It seemed to me last year that we missed some medium of expression for news and opinion and the overflowing soul. We shall surely need it this year. It will be a great relief. If any one talks too much (especially in the Reading Room) we can ask him to print it. If anyone wants to kick, we'll refer him to this newspaper. If anyone feels full of humor, we shall expect to see it manifested here. No longer shall we have to roam the halls wondering whether we have seen all the bulletin boards. I hope everyone will subscribe and that they will all pay their bills.

My second word of welcome is to the students, old and new. This ought to be the best year of the University. Everybody is going to work hard, play hard, treat everyone else right, and keep good natured. Angels can do no more.

A. L. DEAN, President.

WOMEN'S DORMITORY

The dormitory for women includes two attractive bungalows built on the west end of the campus. Three cottages were designed to be constructed, but owing to lack of funds, plans for the last one was forced to be abandoned. The dormitory accommodates fourteen students and a matron. There are two types of rooms, four suites consisting of a bedroom and a study, each accommodating two women, and eight single rooms. Bookshelves and dressers are built in. Beds are provided, but other pieces of furniture are supplied by the students. The buildings will be ready for occupancy sometime in October. Up to date, 11 girls have sent in applications.

The Hawaii Mirror, When and How Come.

The Reason and Purpose of this Paper Explained by an Instigator.

A fairly large group of students, convinced that our University has reached the size where a weekly newspaper is a necessity, resolved to make an earnest effort to establish one. Unfortunately, the project came up for consideration so late last term, it did not have time to get into general discussion among the students.

It seemed that to undertake a newspaper campaign at the beginning of the new term, or shortly afterwards, might lead to long discussion and delay. Other interests would crowd in, and most probably the launching of the newspaper would be postponed a whole year.

Rather than have this happen, those interested in the project decided to make themselves a self-appointed committee to get out the first edition at registration time. In this way, the project would have the benefit of the enthusiasm of the students returning to college and of the new students just entering. Also, there would be no conflict of interests; the newspaper could begin functioning efficiently without a moment's delay, and would be ready to be taken over by the A.S.U.H. just as soon as the A.S.U.H. felt ready to take it over.

Putting out the first edition has been so managed that there will be no loss to any of those subscribing, should the total number of subscriptions be insufficient to warrant the continuance of the paper, thus necessitating the refunding of the money received. But such a contingency is unthinkable. Beyond a shadow of a doubt, the newspaper will continue to be published every week. Nevertheless, it remains that the size and quality of the newspaper depend directly upon the support given it by the student body. This first is a special edition for registration, but there is no reason on earth why we cannot maintain the standard reached here. The whole-hearted support of the student body is all that is needed. Obviously, making a success of the newspaper will be a great benefit to each of us in keeping us informed with regard to all University news. Also, such a success will add greatly to our prestige and influence in the community.

Your subscription is considered a vote of approval. This first edition of the newspaper is merely an argument. It is simply the most vivid way of showing what we can do, and how much we shall enjoy a newspaper, and how much we really need it. The fact that an edition of the newspaper has been printed, does not hinder you from having the same influence that you would have had if the project had been discussed for a long time.

The expectation of those putting out this first edition, is that when the A.S.U.H. sees fit, it will assume control of the newspaper as an official organ, just as it does in the case of Ka Palapala. When the A.S.U.H. does assume control, it will have the right to decide what the permanent name of the newspaper shall be, and who shall be the members of both the editorial and managerial staffs. In this way, the members of the student association are not deprived of any power over the newspaper, and at the same time there is no delay in launching this great project.

Sam Fuller, '25, a member of the Varsity eleven and basketball team, has transferred to West Point.

J. L. Young will enter the Bedford Textile School; Hector Moir, Cornell University; R. K. F. Lee, Park College, Parkville, Mo.; Irene Goo, Boston University; Arthur Alexander, Washington State University; H. Brodie, University of California; Edwin W. Peterson, Yale University; Miss Dorothy Post, University of California;

Our New Professors

The President's office has announced that the following persons will be members of our faculty during the coming term, an increase which is larger than has occurred at any previous time:

Dr. J. B. Pollock comes to us from the University of Michigan. He is exchange professor with Dr. Bergman for 1922-23, and will have the classes in botany.

The chair of Education and Psychology will be occupied by Mr. Percival Symonds, who was formerly an assistant in the Institute of Educational Research, Teachers' College, Columbia University. Mr. Symonds has completed his work for his doctor's degree, and the degree will be conferred actually as soon as his thesis is in print.

Prof. S. C. Lee, who will teach Chinese language and history, has been in Honolulu, occupying the pulpit of the Chinese Congregational Church, since the first of the year. He has had a fine opportunity to become acquainted with the University, which opportunity he has utilized.

Miss Carey Miller, who is a graduate of the University of California, and who has been travelling and studying in the east, is assistant professor of Household Science.

Commerce has for an instructor Mr.

E. H. Van Winkle, who received his degree in engineering at Harvard in 1920, and who has since done graduate work at Stanford. Mr. Van Winkle has brought his bride to Honolulu with him.

The English department is to be enlarged by having for an instructor Mr. Theodore B. Hunt, formerly a resident of the state of New Jersey.

Also, the English department is to have Miss Gladys Rentiman, who received her Bachelor of Arts degree at Macalester College, St. Paul, Minn. Miss Rentiman has taught on the mainland for two years, and during the past year has been at the Honolulu Military Academy.

As an instructor in Chemistry, we have Miss Bernice Warner, who received her Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Chicago in 1920. Miss Warner has been teaching at Hawi, Hawaii.

In addition to this long list, there are four special instructors who will spend only part of their time teaching at the University. They are: Mr. S. S. Peck, Sugar Technology; Mr. G. H. W. Barnhart, Sugar Mill Engineering; Mr. C. S. Judd and Mr. Charles J. Kraebel, Forestry.

In connection with the work of the Historical Commission, Mr. R. S. Kuykenball will spend much of his time at the University. It is possible that he will give a course in history. At least he will be in Dr. Leebrick's office, and will be glad to consult with students.

Problems of the University

At the beginning of the term nothing is more important than to pause for a moment to consider the problems before us in the coming year. If we know precisely what they are, we shall be in a much better position to solve them satisfactorily. But to say "problems" reminds us of our struggles in Math. We can almost feel the perspiration oozing out as we recollect some of the stiff problems we have had to solve in the past, and dread those that may come in the future. In reality, the matters before us as students of the University of Hawaii, which we call problems, are opportunities. They are opportunities to gain wider experience and to demonstrate our own ability. They are opportunities of service to our Alma Mater, to make her a more wonderful college for ourselves and for all who come after us. The opportunities before us today are more numerous, larger, more significant, and call for greater ability, than at any previous time. We have a better chance than ever before to show the stuff of which we are made. We can use more energy and more enthusiasm than we have ever had in the past. For these reasons, we should consider carefully our opportunities, and then, with unlimited enthusiasm plunge in to make the most of them.

Perhaps the first opportunity of which we are all conscious today is our weekly newspaper. It is, we believe, a great step forward in the development of the University, and is something that will make for even greater progress in the future. In order to make the newspaper the complete success it should be, every student in the University should stand behind it. He should not only subscribe, but should stand ready to give it his time and thought. He should take a lot of pride in, and have a lot of enthusiasm for, the paper. That is the way for him to get the most out of it, and for him to make everybody else respect the newspaper. In launching a newspaper, we are creating a medium through which the whole life and thought of the institution can be seen at a single glance. This important function can be performed best when everybody is backing up the newspaper with all his energy and enthusiasm, and his whole heart and soul.

Close upon the heels of the newspaper is the Christmas football game with Pomona. We have put ourselves on the athletic map, to the glory of Nevada and Oregon. But we must not add to the renown of other institutions. We must bring glory to our own. We must win that Christmas game. Every thought of doubt and uncertainty must be ruled out. We must constantly see ourselves victorious, but we must not idly dream that some kind providence will bring us the victory. We must earn victory! The football men are merely our representatives in the contest. By themselves they cannot win the game. The entire student body of the University must win it. We can do it by seeing that our football men are faithful in practice, by encouraging them in every way possible, by backing them up with our support at every game, and by talking football unremittingly until we have won that game.

Many other opportunities there are. We can derive the greatest benefit from each by having unselfish, whole-hearted, enthusiastic, school spirit. This school spirit we need to build up into an invincible power. It should dominate every student who enrolls under our banner; it should imbue him with an intense, steadfast love for his Alma Mater. When her name and her fame are at stake, he should have unbounded energy, determination, and dauntless courage. Every one should be unwavering in his conviction that this University is one of the best in the wide world, and should be eager to make it still better by his having been here. Each of us should always be ready to have our Alma Mater stand for what we know to be right, and adhere to her high aims of Truth and Service. With such a spirit, our college will mean a thousand times more to us, and the good we get from the time spent under her influence will be proportionately greater.

The Athletic Situation

For the third consecutive year the University football team will meet a mainland eleven, the opponents this Christmas being Pomona College of Claremont, California. Pomona is a member of the Southern California conference. They play real football down there, and Pomona plays as good as any of 'em. For ten years or more they have consistently held a place among the top three teams of the conference, and during that time they have won the championship more times than any of their opponents.

What we can look for in Pomona is a little hard to say. Roughly it will probably be a great deal better than Nevada and not quite so good as Oregon. Whether Hawaii has a chance of winning this Christmas game depends on a good many things, one of the most important of which is the attitude of the student body and of the members of the football squad. If the students back the team throughout the season, and back the coach, and if the team plays for a team instead of for personal glory, our chances are at least even for a win. It's time for win. We've almost got to win in order to justify our policy of importing a football team. We can't keep on losing forever.

We lost some good men from last year's squad, but we are

WELCOME TO OUR NEW PROFESSORS

ALOHA!

Probably you have heard, probably you have not heard, the expression ALOHA, but be assured that ALOHA uttered in Hawaii means 100 per cent welcome.

You are always welcomed everywhere. However, Hawaii's welcome to you is different from that which you have been accorded thus far anywhere else. Our welcome is ALOHA.

You are for the first time in your lives in a strange land with a surrounding and climate quite different from that of yours. But don't be alarmed by that change for Hawaii's skies are just as blue, her rainbows are more beautiful, and her flowers are a bit prettier than anywhere else.

Though there are many faces, strange and unfamiliar to you, we are all Americans, cosmopolitan Americans of different races.

New professors, we are glad to have you with us. We ask your guidance and help; we stand ready to receive your knowledge to us.

We take this opportunity to say ALOHA to you.

The Class of 1922 was the largest class to graduate. Its members are: Jen Fui Moo, Mary Ling Sang Li, Earl McTaggart, John Thompson, Francis Kanahale, Frederick Denison, Kwan Doo Park, Douglas Wells, Chas. Yap, Alfred Dip Lum, Keizi Suzuki, Peter Hanohano, Ah Com Lau.

Several of our students have transferred to other mainland colleges and universities.

Among them are:

Raymond Conant '24, has transferred to the University of California. Conant was very popular among the students. He represented the University of Hawaii in football, basketball, and track teams.

Colby D. Tarleton, '24, has transferred to Stanford University. He was on the Varsity eleven for two years, and captured honors on the cindre path.

Major D. W. P. Larnach, '23, of the University of Hawaii Senior R.O.T.C., will enter Stanford.

MAKE ADS COUNT

In addition to making our weekly newspaper a satisfactory news medium, we must also make it a business like advertising medium. Just as we can accomplish the former purpose by giving the newspaper our time and thought, so we can accomplish the latter by remembering to make our ads count.

We earnestly request that you patronize the concerns who have had enough faith in the soundness of our project to place their ads in the paper. When you have the chance to tell others of a concern with which they can do business, refer them to some of our advertisers.

To convince our advertisers that the Hawaii Mirror is a good advertising medium, whenever you, or those to whom you mention our advertisers, in doing business with any of the concerns, should say that you have seen their ad in the University of Hawaii Weekly Newspaper.

getting a lot of new material, and it certainly looks now as though we have gained by the exchange. It is important that we win every game during the season, and especially important that we defeat the Navy and Town teams. For the first time we are to have competition in these holiday games, and we've got to have such a record behind us by Christmas that there will be no question as to which of the two mainland games will be the most worth seeing.

Pomona will arrive here on the Maui, December 21. They are bringing a spotless record of clean sportsmanship. We must match them in every respect, and beat them on the field.
